

Left: An ecstatic Harry Turnham with Barregowa Celebration after winning his class of the Handlers Competition at the 2008 Lancefield Show. Says Harry: "I like it because it is challenging. You never know how a new animal, is going to behave. I love being outside and I love working with cattle. I like choosing the show animals out of the herd. I enjoy washing the paddock dust out and making them look shiny. I feel nervous when the judge is choosing but it is a great feeling when you win something." Harry is eight.

Above right: Champion parader, Monica Meszaros, has competed since she was seven. Her biggest win was at Bathurst Show 2008, in the Under 12 Paraders class which was in five heats. Winning her class, Monica then went on to take out Champion Pee-wee Parader.

Below: Five year old Billy Goetsch may be the world's youngest studmaster. After leading calves for Margo Hayes at the Ekka, Billy has expanded into his own Lowline stud, Cowboy Bill's, and is an ALCA Youth Member. It helps that his father is a top cattleman.

Monica has a passion for all animals and at Hawkesbury 2007 was rewarded with a duckling by her parents for obtaining great results. In 2008, the duck, "D," placed first in its class at Moss Vale. Monica now has three Peking ducks and two chickens which she intends showing with the cattle at Hawkesbury Show.

Bottom right: Jaylyn Dodd, just six, is a regular parader in US Lowline shows. Very confident with the show stick, Jaylyn sets up her entry like a professional.

"At 11 months old I could see that Jackaroo has a great future.- as soon as he walked into the ring I could tell he was a good calf, smooth, carries well, just an exceptional exhibit," said Royal Melbourne Judge Ross Canning.
